CABINET MEETS ON BANK HOLIDAY FOR THE FIRST TIME IN SEVERAL YEARS

Crowds Cheer Ministers On Leaving Number Ten

PARLIAMENT SUMMONED FOR NEXT THURSDAY

LONDON, April 10 (REUTER)—ALL BUT TWO OF THE TWENTY-TWO MINISTERS WERE PRESENT AT A MEETING OF THE BRITISH CABINET AT 11 o'clock this morning—the first held on a Bank holiday for several years—to hear a report from the Foreign Secretary, Lord Halifax, on the events since last Thursday and to consider the Opposition request for the recall of Parliament. Absentees from the meeting were Lord Runciman, Lord President of the Council, who is abroad and Mr. Malcolm MacDonald (Colonial Secretary) who is indisposed.

Additional police were drafted to control the large crowds, who watched the arrival of the Ministers at No. 10 Downing Street, in bright sunshine.

The Prime Minister, Mr. Chamberlain, presided at the meeting and Capt. David Margesson, Chief Government Whip, attended for twenty minutes. His presence suggested that Parliament would be recalled.

The Cabinet sat for two-and-a-quarter-hours. As the Ministers left Downing Street they were clapped and cheered by large Bank holiday crowds waiting all morning. Lord Halifax, Mr. Leslie Hore-Belisha (Secretary for War) and Lord Chatfield (Minister for Co-ordination of Defence) were particularly cheered.

There will be a meeting of Ministers (not a Cabinet meeting) at 4 p.m. Mr. Clement Attlee, Leader of the Labour Opposition, will see Mr. Chamberlain at 2.30 p.m. to discuss the situation. Present indications are that Parliament will be summoned to meet next Thursday afternoon which will be preceded by a Cabinet meeting the same morning.

BULGARIA AS AXIS PAWN

LONDON, April 10 (REUTER)—According to the Rome correspondent of "The Times," well-informed Italian circles consider Bulgaria will be advanced on the diplomatic chessboard as a pawn of the axis countries who will urge her acceptance into the Balkan Entente and who will then sponsor Bulgarian demands for a free port at Salonika.

If this is done a corridor to the Aegean Sea will be demanded which, unless effectively opposed by Britain and France, would lead to the demand on Rumania to hand over Dobruja on the Black Sea.

DANZIG "CRISIS" IMMINENT

"The Times" Washington correspondent reports that official U.S. opinion appears to consider the Albanian episode as only the first of a series of grave events, and that a Danzig "crisis" is imminent.

"The Times" in a leader on the situation, dismisses Italian pretensions that the invaders were invited by oppressed Albanians and adds that one of the immediate motives was that "it was time for Italian pride to be gratified. The journal considers that the invasion can only be for strategic reasons in order to provide a bridgehead to the Balkans.

APPEAL TO DUCE

ROME, April 10 (REUTER)—Wireless stations broadcast a speech in Tirana by the President of the Albanian Administrative Committee in which he appeals to the Duce to form an Albanian Fascist Party.

"IF WE DO NOT HAVE A WAR"

WASHINGTON, Apr. 10 (REUTER)—President Roosevelt has returned after a holiday at Warm Springs where he told the crowd at the station, "I'll be back in the autumn. If we do not have a war."

DOG-FIGHT OVER HOPPO

JAPANESE PLANES DRIVEN OFF

WUCHOW, April 10 (Central)—A fast and furious dog fight between Chinese planes and Japanese machines took place over Hoppo, 20 miles north of Pakhoi, at 10.32 o'clock yesterday morning. The enemy aircraft were finally overwhelmed and took to flight, with several of their machines badly damaged.

The Japanese planes were conducting a second bombing raid on Hoppo when the Chinese machines suddenly swooped down from thick banks of clouds and engaged them in a terrific fight. Taken by surprise, the Japanese airmen were badly outmanoeuvred.

In the first raid on Hoppo, the Japanese planes dropped eight bombs and sprayed the town with machine guns.

DEATH OF SEN J. H. LEWIS

WASHINGTON, April 10 (REUTER)—The death has occurred of Senator James Hamilton Lewis, who was Commissioner of the War Department in the Great War.

Junk Master Wounded When Resisting Robbers

Armed men shot the master of a Hongkong trading junk when he resisted their attempts to board his craft early yesterday morning.

Leung Lin, who later entered the Kowloon Hospital for treatment, and eight fokis were asleep in their junk, No. 739V, moored off Ching I Island, near Lantau, when they were disturbed by the noise of men clambering over the side of the craft.

Aware that the intruders were robbers but not knowing that they were armed, Leung and his men sprang to their feet and grappled with them. In the struggle, the junk master was shot and wounded. The junk was loaded with a cargo of granite, which could not be taken away, but money, amounting to $120, was stolen, also some clothing.

CHUNGKING, April 10 (Central)—The Central Party Headquarters and the National Government held an enlarged weekly memorial service this morning with more than 300 members of the staffs of the two organs attending.

Missionary Doctor Murdered In Canton

Vain Attempt To Save Life

CANTON, April 10 (REUTER)—Dr. O. L. Eaton, of Christchurch, New Zealand, aged 30 years, of the Presbyterian Mission, Kongschuen, was shot dead by bandits last night.

Three Chinese nurses gave their blood for transfusion in a vain attempt to save the life of the missionary.

A Japanese guard, who was about 200 yards from the Mission, was totally unaware of the incident until informed, although more than 20 shots were fired by the bandits.

The body is being brought back to Canton for burial to-morrow.

The late Dr. Eaton was well-known in South China and was married only last Christmas.

TIENTSIN, APRIL 10 (REUTER)—CHEN LIEH-SHIEH, LOCAL DIRECTOR OF THE FEDERAL RESERVE BANK, was shot dead last night in a cinema which was showing the picture "Gunga Din."

A Swiss engineer, Charles Glauser, was also shot dead as the assailant a Tartar, named Mansouroff, grappled with him.

Mansouroff had to be removed to hospital and his condition is said to be serious.

Easter Collections Stolen

A church is the last place where a robbery would be thought to occur, but St. John's Cathedral authorities have discovered that thieves make no distinctions.

A safe kept in the crypt was broken sometime on Sunday night and a sum of about $500 in cash, constituting the collections from Easter services, was stolen.

CHINESE ADVANCING ON CANTON

Japanese Expect A Siege

From Our Own Correspondent
CHUNGSHAN, April 10.—In a desperate attempt to check the Chinese advance southward, via the Canton-Hankow Railway, Japanese troops in Taipingchang and Shenkang 25 miles north-west of Canton, launched an attack northward against the Chinese positions where a fierce combat was waged on March 6.

The Chinese defenders eventually repulsed the invaders, 300 of whom were killed. The Chinese casualties were over a hundred. The enemy left behind over 100 rifles and several light machine guns.

Chinese troops are reported to have reached the outskirts of Canton following their capture of Sunkai, on the Canton-Hankow Railway, and of Ta Lan, on the West River, near Samshui. The enemy in Canton is manning the pill-boxes and other defence works in anticipation of a siege.

On the East River front, Chinese forces have renewed their attack both on Tsengshing and Chanchow, which is north of Sheklung. The Chinese attack on this point is to prevent the possible transfer of the 6,000 Japanese troops to the Kowloon front. As Chuchuen is west of Tsengshing, the Chinese forces will shortly be able to isolate the latter town.

A military report stated that the Japanese loss of Sunkai, on the Canton-Hankow Railway, entailed the capture of 23 soldiers, eleven horses, fifteen heavy machine guns and other provisions. The war prisoners were taken back behind the lines where they are well treated. Several prisoners were lieutenants and captains and two are believed to be majors or lieutenant colonels.

KIDNAPPERS FOILED IN NEW TERRITORIES

Farmer's Successful Bid For Freedom

NEW TERRITORIES KIDNAPPERS WERE FOILED on Sunday night when a farmer, named Cheung Klap, and his wife, who had been forcibly taken from and were being marched to captivity across paddy fields, made a courageous and successful bid for freedom.

The couple live in an unnumbered hut near Lok-machau. Shortly after 11 p.m. on Sunday, they were aroused by six men who gained entry by breaking down the door. Four of the men carried revolvers, while the remaining two had torches.

They forced the farmer's wife to give them the keys to her boxes, from which they stole about $50 and some small articles. They then compelled the couple to leave their dwelling.

After going for some distance across the fields, the men released hold of the couple who, taking their chance, ran for their lives in the darkness and hid in a bush which their knowledge of the countryside enabled them to locate.

After making sure that their would-be captors had gone, the couple went to the Lokmachau police station and reported their experience.

BATTLE RAGING ON KAOAN SECTOR

CHUNGSHU, KIANGSI, Apr. 10 (Central)—After a week-end respite, fierce fighting has again broken out on the Kiangsi front, along the Nanchang-Wangtsai highway near Kaoan, and to the north in the vicinity of Fengsin, at Tacheng.

The Japanese at Tacheng have been reinforced by more than 2,000 men and four heavy tanks. Supported by a large number of field pieces, the Japanese mechanised columns lumbered down southward to converge on the highway but met with stiff rebuttal from the defenders this morning.

Chinese forces, taking advantage of the hilly terrain in the vicinity, are maintaining their strong posts at points about three miles north of Kaoyushin, three miles north-east of Kaoan.

To the north of Kaoan, Chinese launched a furious counter-attack on Fengsin and approached the city limits on the night of April 8. Later they were forced to retreat to the northwestern outskirts when large numbers of Japanese arrived.

One vessel flying a third party flag, the spokesman stated, was found not to have registration papers. The vessels would be detained pending further inquiries as to their status.

The Portuguese Consul in Shanghai, it was revealed, called on the Japanese Consul-General to-day to discuss the matter.

10 PORTUGUESE SHIPS HELD BY JAPANESE

SHANGHAI, April 10 (REUTER)—A Japanese naval spokesman at a press conference this afternoon admitted the detention of 10 steamers, of which practically all were flying the Portuguese flag, off Woosung, at the entrance to Shanghai.

The detention of these vessels, the spokesman declared, followed doubts as to their status. Recent investigation by the Japanese, he added, showed that many ships flying third Power flags were actually operated by their old Chinese owners, while the crews were also paid wages by these Chinese.

One vessel flying a third party flag, the spokesman stated, was found not to have registration papers. The vessels would be detained pending further inquiries as to their status.

The Portuguese Consul in Shanghai, it was revealed, called on the Japanese Consul-General to-day to discuss the matter.

FLOOD VICTIMS FLOOD TO LOYANG

LOYANG, April 10 (Central)—Large numbers of last summer's flood victims, with their last store of provisions exhausted, are daily flocking to Loyang for relief, adding considerably to the burden of the local authorities.

At Chengchow, Hsuehchang, Chow-kow, and other places, the victims are creating a tremendous problem for the free kitchens established by the authorities at each of these places.

At Chengchow alone, the number of people catered by the free kitchens has exceeded 20,000.

DISCOVERY BAY PAYS $434.30 AT VALLEY RACES

Mr. Yuen Springs Surprise In The Cabramatta Handicap

MR. C. ENCARNACAO WINS EASTER STAKES

A SURPRISE WIN BY DISCOVERY BAY, CAPABLY RIDDEN BY MR. S. L. YUEN, in the Cabramatta Handicap, which paid lucky backers $434.30 each, was the highlight of the second and concluding day of the Easter Race meeting, run in brilliant weather and on a fast track at Happy Valley yesterday.

Apart from this, and a return of $156.50, paid when Fei Ying (Mr. B. A. Proulx) won the second section of the Boa Vista Handicap, dividends were taken as a whole, disappointing.

Mr. H. C. Pih and Mr. B. A. Proulx topped the list of winning jockeys, each having two successes to their credit. Messrs. C. Encarnacao, D. Black, H. P. Chanson, A. W. Raymond, S. L. Yuen and V. V. Needa rode the other winners. Place honours were fairly evenly distributed.

Mr. Encarnacao won the Easter Stakes, on Rose Elect, by two lengths, but Mr. Black, riding Bear Claw, made a closer race of it than the margin indicated. The time of 1.55 equalled Diana Bay's record for the mile distance.

Considering the large crowd, amongst whom was His Excellency the Governor, Sir Geoffrey Northcote, cash sweeps were on the small side, the $2,000 mark not being touched until the second last event.

The Daily Double was won by the National Victory—Wilber combination, 94 people getting it right to receive $34.40 each.

EASTER STAKES

The allotment of top weight did not prevent Rose Elect (Mr. C. Encarnacao) from winning the Easter Stakes in the time of 1.55, equalling Diana Bay's record for the mile distance.

Mr. Encarnacao provided evidence that the course was on the fast side by letting his mount out at a terrific rate. After the first quarter it was always a few lengths ahead till coming into the home stretch. Bear Claw (Mr. D. Black) staged a chase which brought it level with, and actually a neck past, the leader.

This was at the Public Stand and Rose Elect showed that it had been running within itself by responding gallantly to Mr. Encarnacao's touch of the whip and forging ahead again. In the end the margin was three lengths. King's Warden (Mr. Needa) was six lengths behind for third place. Dividends, as is usual in races of this description were very poor—$5.40, $5.10, $5.10.

CALLOP HANDICAP

Capably ridden by Mr. H. C. Pih, Derby Day won this event by three quarters of a length, staying off a strong challenge from Vixen Tor (Mr. Proulx) and Crifel (Mr. Encarnacao).

The latter two ponies had a keen fight for second place, Vixen Tor doing it by a short head.

ADVERTISEMENTS

THE HONG KONG JOCKEY CLUB

Draft Programmes and Entry Forms for the Third Extra Race Meeting to be held on Saturday, 22nd April 1939 (weather permitting), may be obtained at the Secretary's Office, Exchange Building, the Club House, Happy Valley; the Hong Kong Club; the Sports Club; and the Stables, Sham Kwong Road.

Entries close at 12 o'clock NOON on Thursday, 13th April, 1939.

By Order,
C. B. BROWN,
Secretary.

KELLETT HANDICAP
The first race after the interval resulted in a narrow win for Jennifer (Mr. B. A. Proulx), half a length separating it from King Kong (Mr. A. W. Raymond).

Rose Emily (Mr. Poy) which had made a none too favourable start, finished strongly to place third.

BOA VISTA HANDICAP
A hot favourite, Strathbannock (ridden by Mr. Donald Black) "saw her backers right" in the first section of the Boa Vista Handicap, winning by a length from Sylvandale (Mr. Needa).

Valorous, another well-fancied mount, placed third. Mr. Ip Kuei-yang, having some trouble in getting her out of the bunch just before entering the straight.

COOLGARDIE STAKES
An exhibition of pronouncing by Hellum delayed the start of this event, and when the barrier eventually went up it refused to start and had to be led by its jockey.

A keen finish, saw Murrumbidgee, the favourite, beaten into second place by National Victory (Mr. H. P. Chanson) Bruno, which had not been much in evidence, did well to finish third, capably handled by Mr. C. F. H. Churchill.

KELLETT HANDICAP
SECOND SECTION
Mr. H. C. Pih rode his second winner when he brought Scenic View in by a length. Rose Queen (Mr. Encarnacao) and Bistre (Mr. Chanson) were second and third.

The winner was always prominent and, though the challenge offered by Rose Queen at the stands was a strong one, the pony had something to spare.

Dividends thus far have been very disappointing.

SUGAR LOAF STAKES
Another race that went as expected. Wilber, with Mr. Raymond up, ran well and finished well, getting home with half a length to spare, with Green Bay (Mr. Tao) and Welcome (Mr. Chao) in close attendance.

The race was uneventful till the home stretch was reached, when the two placed ponies began closing in on the then leaders, amongst which was Talkative, then going strongly. This latter pony lacked finish, however, and dropped out from here.

CABRAMATTA HANDICAP
The first really big dividend of the meeting was paid here, when Discovery Bay, carrying only 51 tickets, and well ridden by Mr. S. L. Yuen, won by a length to pay lucky backers $434.30 each, $75.50 being the return for a place bet.

A Great Time (Mr. T. Y. Woo) one of the most strongly backed ponies had to be content with second place when it failed to hold the pace in the home stretch. The third pony, Macquarie River (Mr. P. Wei) was also not much favoured and paid $51.80.

BOA VISTA HANDICAP
This was one of the keenest events of the meeting, resulting in another surprise win that paid $156.50, when Mr. Benny Proulx brought Fei Ying home half a length ahead of This Time (Mr. T. Y. Woo). Tempest (Mr. Encarnacao) was third.

For the most part of the race Fei Ying was unnoticed. Golden Cow (Mr. C. F. Chiu) and Tabby Cat (Mr. H. C. Pih) being in the lead and going strong.

Rounding the bend Fei Ying and This Time began to come up strongly, the former from well behind.

S.C.A.A. DEFEAT ARMY IN KOTEWALL CUP

Close Game At Causeway Bay: Lee Wai-tong Absent

A BIG CROWD FILLED THE NAVY ENCLOSURE at Causeway Bay yesterday afternoon to witness South China A.A. defeat The Army by two goals to one in a Kotewall Cup football charity match. It was a very closely contested game and had the Chinese especially made more of their opportunities the result would have been different.

Owing to an indisposition, Lee Wai-tong was unable to play and this was a disappointment to his followers. In his place at centre-forward, Chan Tak-fai turned out while the veteran, Lau Mau, appeared at left back in place of Lee Kwok-wai.

Kwok Ying-ki, playing at right half-back for the Chinese, was really outstanding and put in a lot of very useful work. Lee Tin-sang made a welcome return to form and covered much ground while in goal Cheung Wing-chol was brilliant at times. In attack, Tang Kwong-sum was as speedy as ever on the right wing but Fung King-cheong and Lal Shiu-wing lacked their usual finish. In the second half both Lal and Fung faltered when with only Duncan to beat.

The Army had a steady defence with Sheehan and Fraser doing yeoman service and Rides, Shaw and Guy (who replaced May at left-half) were a hard working trio.

CALVERT ON FORM
Calvert and Saw were always a danger to the Chinese defenders when in possession but bad luck dogged the Army forwards on numerous occasions. Calvert, leader of the attack, led his line very well.

In the first five minutes the Army took the lead when Saw made no mistake from a penalty awarded for "hands" against a South China defender. The lead was short-lived, however, the Chinese taking up the attack almost immediately resulting in Lal Shiu-wing scoring the equalizer. A few minutes later, after continued pressure on the Army citadel, Chan Tak-fai netted what proved to be the winning goal with a good ground shot that had Duncan well beaten.

There was no further scoring after the interval although the second half had many exciting moments with both goalkeepers being kept busy.

The teams were:—
South China A.A.—Cheung Wing-chol; Lee Tin-sang; Lau Mau; Kwok Ying-ki; Leung Wing-chiu; Tse Kam-hung; Tang Kwong-sum; Fung King-cheong; Chan Tak-fai; Lal Shiu-wing and Lau Tau-man.
The Army:—Duncan; Fraser; Sheehan; Rides; Shaw, Guy; Emberson, Courtney, Calvert, Saw and Duffield.

A friendly hockey match was played at King's Park yesterday when the Nomads Hockey Club beat H.M.S. Birmingham by the odd goal in three.

The Nomads did well to win for they played the greater part of the game with only ten men owing to the inability of R.M. da Silva, their dashing right wing, to continue after receiving a nasty gash between the eyes early in the first half.

The game yesterday was not classical but the evenness of the sides made up for this deficiency. Most of the play took place in midfield and the final result was a fair indication of the run of play.

The Nomads took the lead in the first half with a gift goal, the Birmingham custodian mis-kicking a rolling shot from E. Gubbay. There was no further scoring in this period and after changing ends the Nomads increased their lead when S. A. Reed found the net with a rasping shot. Midway in this half Dalsey, who ably led the Birmingham attack, reduced the arrears.

HIGH MORALE IS MAINTAINED IN CHUNGKING

From a Correspondent

CHUNGKING, April 5.—Chungking as usual is teeming with activities. The authorities are having a most difficult time in persuading people to leave the city as more filter-in every day.

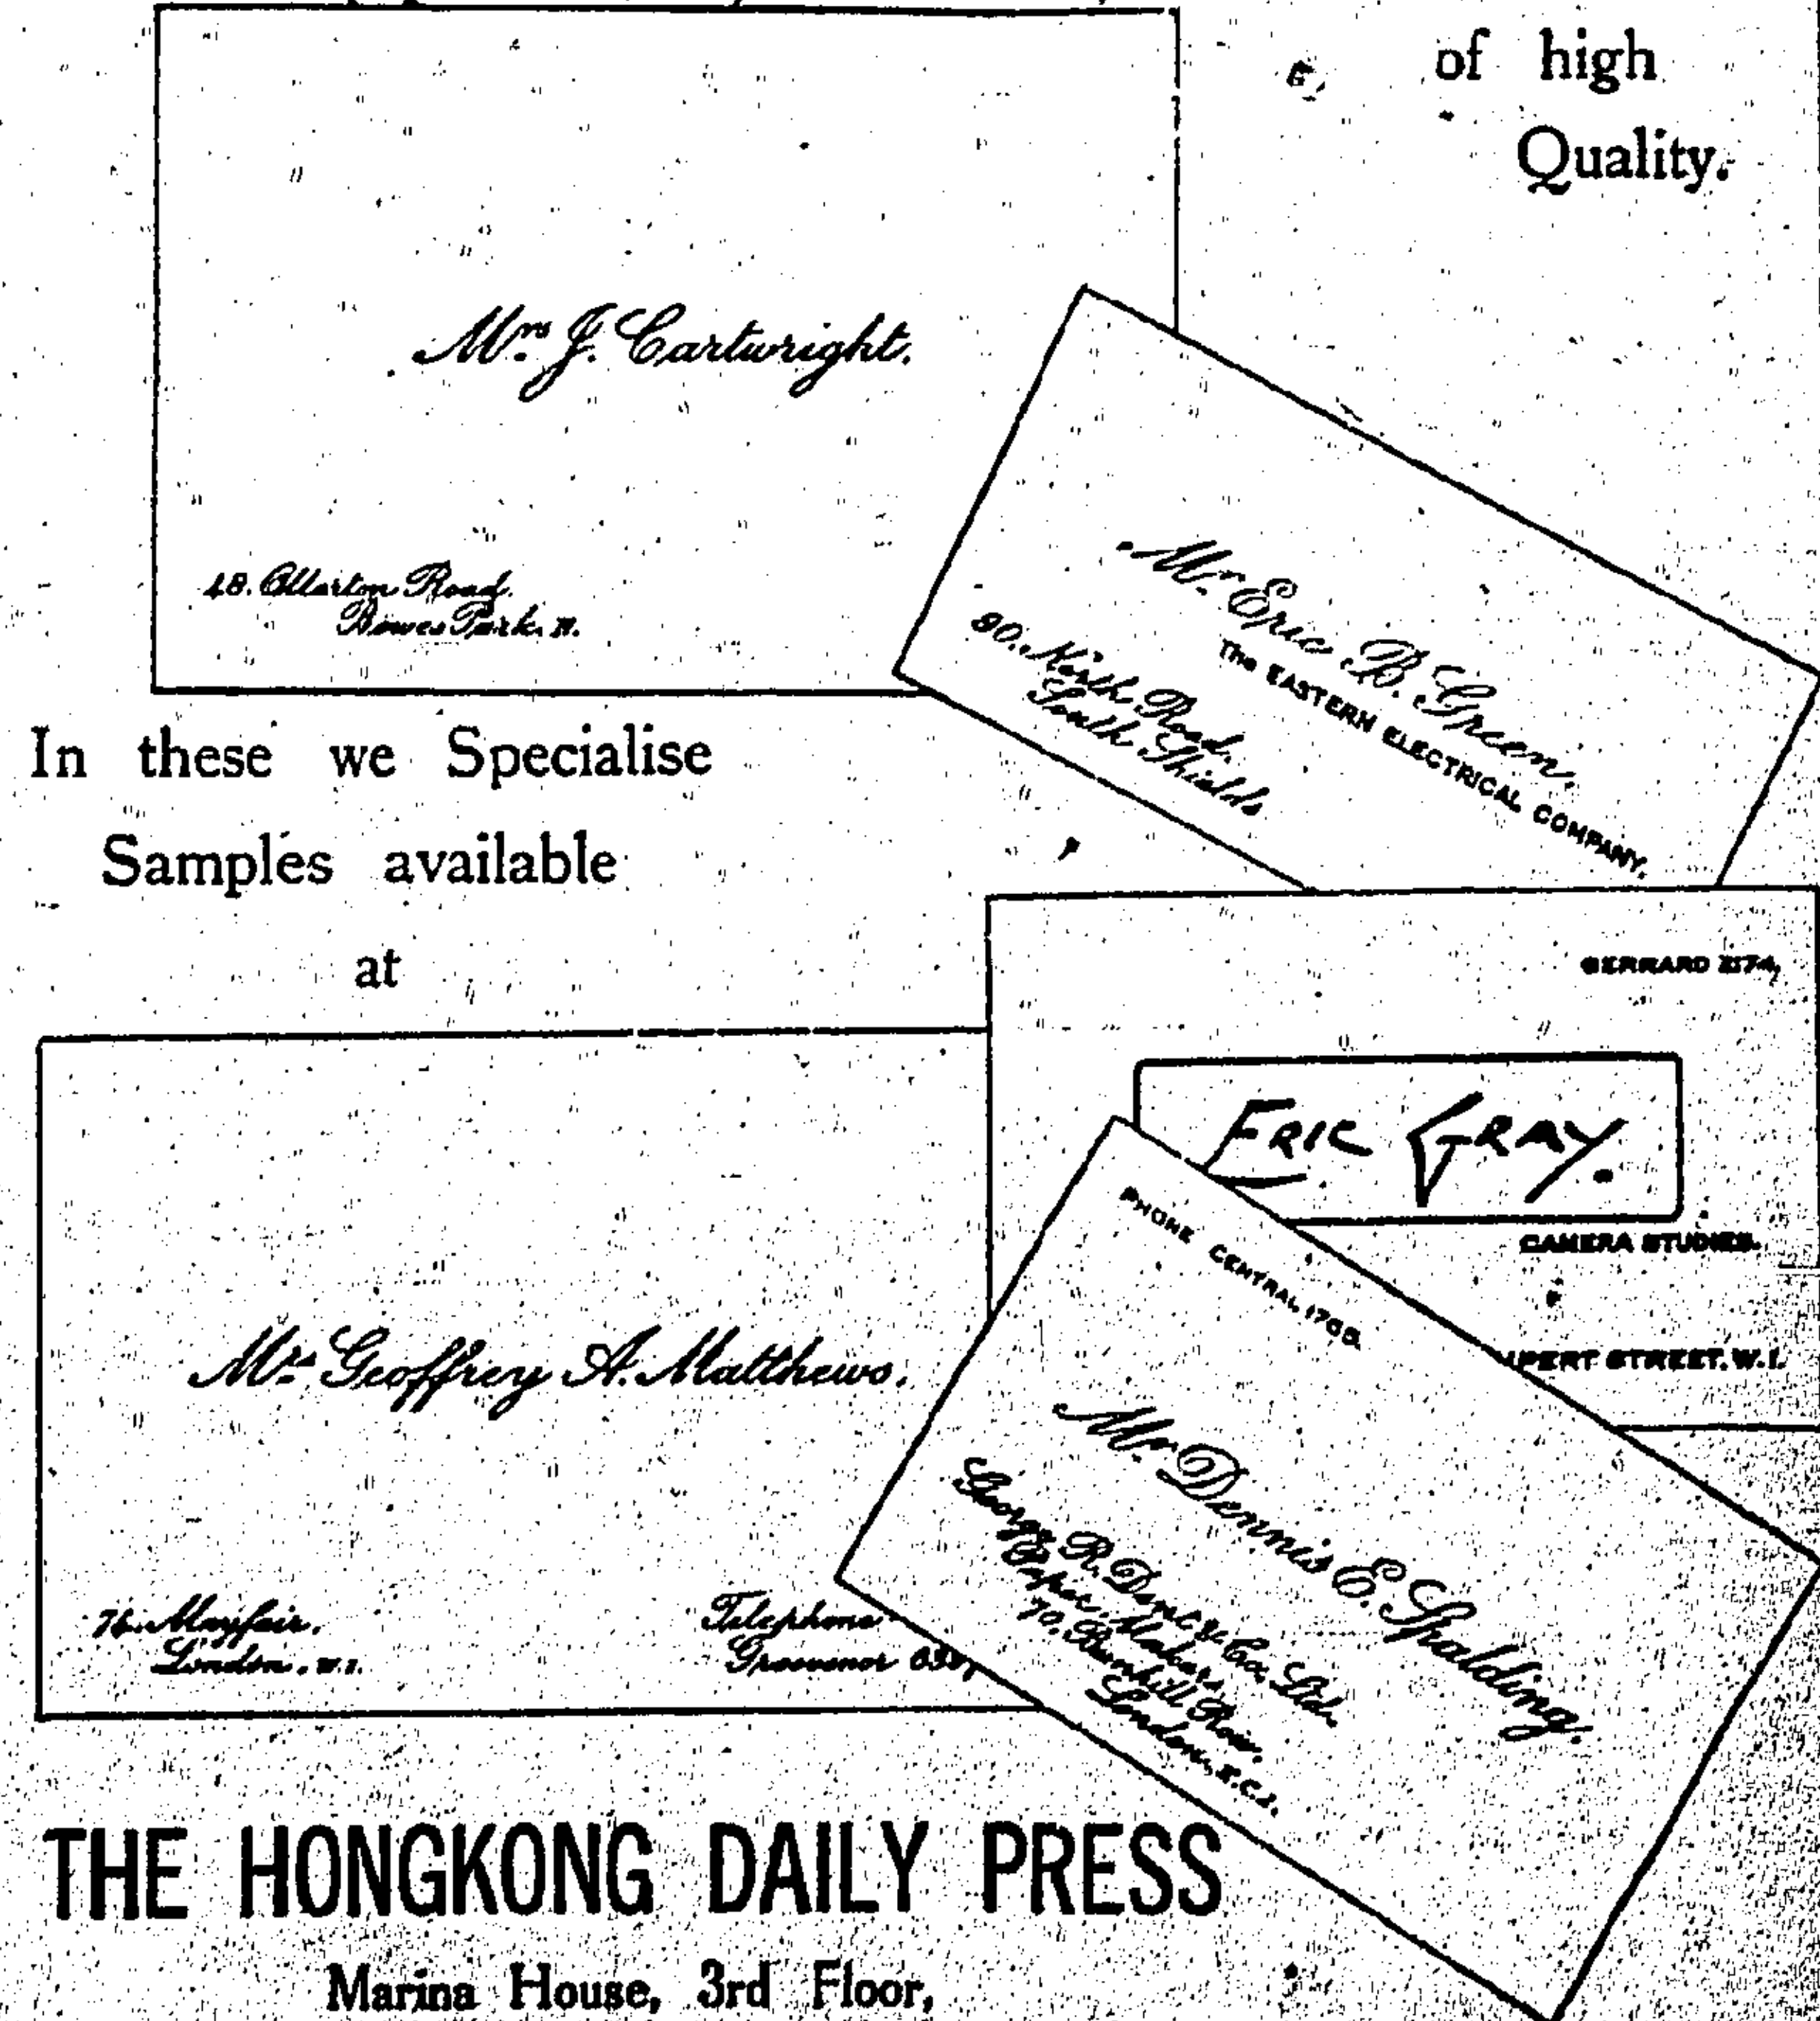

The morale of the people is generally high and the fall of Nanchang has done little to discourage them.

Important meetings are being held here almost daily with a view to promoting rapid reconstruction in the southwest and northwest.

Mr. M. D. Cooper, representative of the Chrysler Motor Company in the Orient, arrived in Hongkong on the President Coolidge yesterday on a business trip.

LEW AYRES MAKES GOOD AGAIN: PRACTICALLY FACING STARDOM

Hollywood is gazing at a phenomenon in the personable form of Lew Ayres. Ayres' career, which had so many ups and downs, is once again on the upgrade. In fact, amazing as it seems to Lew himself, he is practically facing stardom.

In spite of the fact that Ayres worked in countless films, the public forgot him. "Then, too, I always had the idea in my mind that I wanted to be a director," he continued. "No one would take this seriously, but after plugging for months I finally landed a directorial job. Of course, there was an agreement. I would play in a picture free of charge, and in return, I could have a picture to direct."

"But I felt it was worth it," he continued, "and so the deal went through. James Dunn, Mae Clarke and Henry B. Walthall had the principal roles in the film. "I'll never forget the feeling of incompetence I had when directing Walthall in a scene. Here was one of the finest actors the screen had ever seen, and there was I, trying to tell him how it should be done."

A LOT TO LEARN
"And then I began to figure things out for myself," Ayres grinned. "I realized that as a director

I had a lot to learn. Why, then, shouldn't I get first hand training by continuing my acting career while I was still young enough, and let the directing go until later."

And with that Ayres began his climb back. For more than two years he made a living appearing in minor roles. Then came "Holiday," in which he portrayed the role of the tippling brother to Katharine Hepburn. On the strength of this performance he was offered the character role of Henry in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "Rich Man, Poor Girl."

Ayres' star was in the ascent. His press reviews for the Henry portrayal were so good that Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer promptly signed him under long-term contract. "Young Dr. Kildare," his next motion picture, started critics raving anew, and so he was given the lead in "Spring Madness," with Maureen O'Sullivan. Then came other important roles, with still more films planned for him.

Claudette Colbert and James Stewart have started work in "It's a Wonderful World," new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production. W.S. Van Dyke II is directing with Frank Davis as producer. The supporting cast includes Ernest Truex, Frances Drake, Sidney Blackmer, Nat Pendleton, Guy Kibbee and Edgar Kennedy.

William Powell is waiting for warmer weather to bask in the desert sun before preparing for his return to Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer for the next "Thin Man" picture.

LAW ON SIDE OF TRUE LOVE

Marriage law in Scotland will be on the side of true love if the Marriage (Scotland) Bill, which prohibits Gretna and other irregular marriages, is passed.

This is the view of Mr. John Colville, Secretary of State for Scotland, who, when moving the second reading of the Bill in the House of Commons talked of the "deplorable results" of irregular marriages.

In the case of Gretna Green marriages, he said, the circumstances were perhaps exceptional. But the books of the blacksmith's shop showed that 2,295 marriages were performed at the blacksmith's in the ten years 1928-36, and only 419 were registered.

The present Bill dealt with the case of civil marriages "as now practised in Scotland."

The irregular marriage in Scotland was marriage by the exchange of consent. No record was needed. This often had deplorable results.

"In future, apart from exceptional cases of marriage by habit and repute," continued Mr. Colville, "all marriages in Scotland under the provisions of the Bill will be either marriages by religious ceremony or in the office of an authorized registrar."

The Rev. James Barr, a Labour M.P., said the marriages at Gretna Green were stated to be performed

Sex War Threatens Civil Service

What is described as a "sex war" is threatened in the Civil Service Clerical Association as the result of "attempts to feminize the Service." The "revolt" is the outcome of the aggregation of men and women in posts, particularly in the Post Office Savings Bank Department.

A protest meeting of male clerical officers was held at Hammer-smith, and a statement issued by the organizers hints at a threat to break away from the Association.

"It is quite possible," the statement says, "that as a result of this meeting there will be a breakaway of male members of the Civil Service Clerical Association, who are in many offices finding that the aggregation report is being used by the Treasury as a means to feminize the Civil Service."

"If this breakaway takes place there is every reason to believe that an all-male association will be born, and this means a sex war."

"Maybe this will be the starting-point of a line up nationally by by a blacksmith. There never was a blacksmith in the old days, nor was there a blacksmith's shop, nor were the marriages performed on an anvil. It was an old soldier, weaver, or fisherman in the village who performed the ceremony.

"If he was called a blacksmith," said Mr. Barr, "it was not because his brow was wet with honest sweat, but because he welded couples together."

The Bill was read a second time without a division.

men to recover some measure of the male priority by right to employment.

WOMEN CHEAPER

"We are being virtually robbed by women of posts which are said to be given to women on merit. The true reason, however, is that they are cheaper."

A draft resolution submitted at the meeting deplores the "indignities and injustice to men arising from the application of aggregation in the Post Office Savings Bank Department, and bearing in mind the expressed views of the officers of the Civil Service Clerical Association at the recent annual meeting when men were outvoted owing to the superior numerical strength of the opposite sex, directs that a committee be elected to prepare a scheme of ways and means to bring about the immediate review of aggregation."

Round About

A lady entered one of the large banks the other morning. Stepping to the semi-crowded counter, she deposited a straw basket on the gray marble slab, then dug inside a ponderous handbag for a bank book and papers.

A clerk stepped up to the woman and offered assistance.

Standing beside the woman was a tall young man attired in grey flannels which matched his complexion, his eyes were blood-shot and his brow furrowed. The gentleman did not look well and indeed he was not.

Now and then, as the woman transacted her business, the young man, who was leaning on his elbow awaiting his turn, would glance at the clerk, the woman and at the clock on the wall. Suddenly the movement of the lady's straw basket caught his eye. He started, looked intently, shivered and passed his long fingers across blood-shot eyes. The basket, without assistance from anyone was moving, and at intervals it jumped in the air.

Slowly and quietly he tapped the basket owner on the shoulder, and without a word pointed his finger at the moving basket. The woman looked at the man in a quizzical manner, then at the basket and returned to her business at hand, no word was spoken.

The basket took another bounce on the marble counter; this was too much for the harassed man, he grabbed it and to his amazement a yelp ensued—there was a small puppy in the basket.

However, it convinced the gentleman that he did not have "eml Out of the bank, down the street and into a bar flew the flannel clad figure.

MISS LEA SEIDL NOW BRITISH

Miss Lea Seidl, the Viennese actress, who has appeared in several London productions, has, it was announced in the "London Gazette" recently, been granted a certificate of naturalization.

She is described as Caroline Mayseidl, of Charles-street, Berkeley-square, W. When she announced some time ago that she intended to take out naturalization papers, she said that her decision had nothing to do with the political situation in Austria, but she saw no prospect of returning to Vienna for many years.

INTERNATIONAL MISSIONARY COUNCIL MEETING

Dr. K. L. Reichelt Gives His Impressions

RETREAT AT SHATIN

"NO WONDER THAT IN THIS ATMOSPHERE THE CATCH-WORDS AND ARTIFICIAL WALLS, which so sadly separate the disciples of Christ, were cracking and partly collapsing....."

"Although we had all shades of Christian thinking represented: fundamentalists and liberals, high church and low church, it did not matter much, because all felt that it was a shame to emphasize their own peculiarities in these surroundings....."

Such were the impressions gathered by Dr. K. L. Reichelt, of the Tao Fung Shan Institute, who was one of the 484 delegates from all parts of the world to the International Missionary Council meeting in Tambaram, near Madras, India, last December.

Dr. Reichelt spoke these words yesterday in an address at the half yearly retreat of the Friends of Tao Fung Shan at the Tao Fung Shan Institute in Shatin yesterday afternoon.

Dr. Reichelt spoke warmly of the feeling of comradeship and unity displayed by the delegates towards one another, of the extensive programme of work thoroughly gone over, of the leading part taken in the various deliberations and services by the representatives of the coloured peoples who have accepted the Christian faith.

There were some 60 people who attended the retreat, and who enjoyed the hospitality of the Institute throughout the afternoon. The weather was favourable to gathering, and the only disturbing factor, which passed almost unnoticed, was the unusually warm mid-day sun.

At the two services, one in English in the assembly hall, and the other in Mandarin in the temple, Dr. Reichelt led, being assisted by the Rev. S. Hannerz and the Rev. G. M. Reichelt, son of Dr. Reichelt.

The conference near Madras, Dr. Reichelt explained, was to have been held at Hangchow, China, the situation in China necessitating this change of venue.

70 NATIONS

The delegates to the meeting at Tambaram were representative of 70 different nations or separate areas of the world. They met under the chairmanship of Dr. John Mott, and among the leading figures in the Christian churches who took part were such prominent leaders of the Christian churches as the Japanese, Dr. Kagawa, Dr. T. Z. Ko of China, C. F. Andrew, Dr. Stanley Jones, the Rev. Anet from Belgium, Bishop Azariah of Dornakul, India, Dr. Chow from Yenching University, Peking, the Rev. Dr. Chen Ching-yi, Dr. Douglas Horton, Dr. George McLeod, and others.

The work of the meeting centred about 16 aspects of the life and work of the Christian churches throughout the world, and each one of the delegates was assigned to sit at the deliberations on two of the sixteen sectional conferences.

Dr. Reichelt, much of whose work as a missionary in China has been devoted to the training of Chinese pastors, was appointed to sit at the sessions on the "Witness of the Church in relation to the non-Christian faiths and their cultural heritage" and on "the indigenous ministry of the Church, both ordained and lay."

The China delegation to the conference, Dr. Reichelt related, met on the Italian liner Conte Verde on Nov. 30. There were 50 delegates from China, representing both the free and the occupied districts.

Dr. Reichelt continued, "We felt instantly that we were met with a quite distinct and wholesome atmosphere, a breath from the first vigorous days of the Christian church. As the days went on with committee meetings and plenary meetings on board we felt now this atmosphere got stronger and stronger.

"An example—There was quite some anxiety in our delegation in connection with the question of what attitude our Chinese delegates ought to take towards the Japanese delegates. Should an attempt be made to meet them in special meetings or should each individual act separately.

EXPECTATION FULFILLED

"After long deliberations we came to the conclusion that nothing should be decided, because we had good reason to believe that coming into the atmosphere of the Tambaram meeting the problem would solve itself in a higher and better way than we could dream of. This expectation was also fulfilled.

"After a week together at Tambaram it became the most natural thing to see Japanese and Chinese delegates going together and talking freely about the awful responsibilities and the awful tragedy which burdened the hearts of us all.

"A feeling of genuine and mutual respect grew forth and many things were cleared up and new light shed upon the difficult situation.....probably for the first time did our Japanese Christian friends get an opportunity to come down to the actual facts, just as we from China probably for the first time got a full impression of the extremely difficult position in which the Japanese church leaders are placed."

STOWAWAY SETS RECORD

Crossed Undetected In The Queen Mary

The first stowaway to cross the Atlantic in the 81,000-ton Cunard White Star liner Queen Mary without being discovered, spent the night in a police cell at Southampton upon his arrival.

Soon after the vessel reached Cherbourg a man collapsed in the third class quarters and was found to have been without food for some days.

When he recovered he revealed that he had stowed away in New York in the hope of getting to Southampton.

At Cherbourg, realizing that the ship was at anchor and that there was a great deal of movement, and the noise of luggage being shipped, he thought he had reached his destination.

The man was taken before Capt. George Gibbons and then placed in charge of the Master-at-Arms, who on arrival at Southampton handed him over to the police.

It is understood that the stowaway is an American. He said he had lived on water from a drinking fountain in the third class quarters for the 44 days of the trip and slept at night on a ledge.

TO STUDY IN CHINA

Oberlin Scholar Selected

Ellsworth Carlson of Portland, (Oregon), has been selected as this year's recipient of the Oberlin-Shansi fellowship, which for 30 years has provided funds for an American student to represent Oberlin University in the Orient.

Carlson is expected to spend a year in Peking. Following this, if war conditions permit, he will go on to join the Oberlin school in China, wherever it may be at the time.

Until late in 1937, the school was located near Taku, Shansi Province. When it became necessary to move, some 2,000 students and 40 members of the faculty migrated more than 1,000 miles into interior China. Last December, students crossed the T'ai Ling mountains to Mien Shien.

A founder and president of the school is Dr. H. H. Kung, who is an Oberlin graduate.

BOY'S ALLEGATIONS IN SNATCHING CASE

Allegations that he had been assaulted at the Police Station in order to compel him to say that he had been asked to commit larceny by another, were made by a 14-year-old boy during the hearing of a case at the Central Court on Saturday before Mr. R. A. D. Forrest, when Chan Man, 27, unemployed, was found guilty of receiving and being in unlawful possession of a pair of gold earrings.

It was stated in court that a woman, Leung Shun, 48, was walking along Lee Tung Street, Wanchai, when the boy snatched her earrings off and handed them over to Chan Man.

Det. Sergt. Cashman prosecuted. Medical evidence was given yesterday to the effect that there were no signs of an assault having been made on the boy.

His Worship found the defendant guilty and sentenced him to three months' hard labour and recommended him for banishment.

H.M. MERCHANT NAVY

Status Of Seamen: High Tribute

The Duke of Gloucester was present recently at a dinner of the Honourable Company of Master Mariners given at the Mansion House by permission of the Lord Mayor. Sir Robert Burton-Chadwick, the Master, presided, and gave the toast of "The King—the Admiral."

Captain W. H. Whittle proposed the Lord Mayor's health.

The Duke of Gloucester said he had conveyed to the King an expression of their loyal greetings, and received the following reply:—"Please convey to the Master, Wardens, Liverymen, and Cadets of the Honourable Company of Master Mariners my sincere thanks for their kind and loyal message. As their Admiral, I send them my hearty congratulations on the continued progress in the development of my Company."

"I have a deep interest in our Merchant Navy and Fishing Fleets, and send to the Company my warmest wishes for the success of their constant efforts to improve the status of British merchant seamen."

"GEORGE RI."

Proposing "Prosperity to the Master Mariners' Company," the Duke of Gloucester said he thought our people had been over-inclined to take the great and vital Merchant Navy as much for granted as they took the tides.

The Great War did much to open the eyes of the nation to the fact that our Merchant Navy was quietly working day and night throughout the year, all over the world, and that, if it ceased to work or if the continuity of its "lawful occasions" were seriously interrupted, the result to the life of the country would be precisely the same as the stoppage or interruption of the heart would be to the human body.

The Master, in reply, pleaded for a more enlightened interest by the Board of Trade in the sea personnel.

POPIU TICKETS IN WOMAN'S BASKET

A fine of $350, or six months' hard labour, was imposed on Wong Nui, 36, a married woman, charged with possession of 15,565 Popiu tickets at Connaught Road Central on April 8, by Mr. R. A. D. Forrest at the Central Court yesterday.

Det. Sergt. T. Cashman said that defendant was seen by District Watchman No. 68, walking along the street with a girl, who was carrying a basket, in which the tickets were found. The girl said that defendant asked her to carry the basket for her.

It is understood that the s.s. Sagres, which has been chartered by the Douglas Steamship Co., Ltd., was stopped on Saturday while on a voyage from Amoy to Foochow.

ITALY'S NEXT OBJECTIVE OF AGGRESSION

Chinese Comments On Invasion Of Albania

Commenting on the Italian occupation of Albania, the "Sing Tao Jih Pao" in a leading article to-day, expresses the opinion that the move will enable Italy to extend her influence into the Balkan Peninsula. Henceforth, the journal predicts, not only will Yugoslavia become the next objective of Italy's aggression, but also Rumania and Greece.

The journal sees an imminent danger in Yugoslavia particularly in view of the complex race problem in that country, of which the aggressor nations can take full advantage. Further friction between Italy and Great Britain in the Mediterranean as a result of the Italian coup in Albania is also foreseen by the paper.

The "Hongkong Chiu Po" deplores the non-existence of international law and justice as seen in the latest "annexation" of another weak country by a strong one.

FURTHER COMPLICATIONS

Believing that the Italian coup in Albania is not carried out independently, but is parallel to Germany's recent moves, the journal forecasts further complications in the troubled European situation.

The journal also deplores the inaction and hesitant attitude on the part of the democratic Powers in regard to the latest Fascist thrust and urges them to unite together immediately to check further aggression.

Declaring that the Italian annexation of Albania awakens the democratic countries to the necessity of mobilising all peace-loving nations to safeguard peace in the world, the "Ta Kung Pao" advocates the return to the system of collective security to deal with the present "collective aggression" by the Fascist Powers. It believes that if Great Britain, France, Soviet Russia, and the United States should firmly unite together, the aggressive acts of the Axis Powers.

"SQUEEZE" IN THE COLONY

THE UNIMPEACHABLE testimony vouchsafed by two magistrates of the Colony in the case which was brought before the Courts last week when an Indian policeman was charged and deservingly convicted and punished for extorting money from hawkers, must be taken as substantive proof that there is something radically wrong with the disciplinary control of the Colony's Police Force. The case referred to is admittedly a serious indictment on the administration of the Police Department. While in the past such instances of "squeeze" by members of the lower ranks of the force were only brought to light by chance or complaint from the victims themselves, in this particular case the indisputable evidence of two members of the magistracy cannot be lightly explained away. Indeed, it is a matter which calls for a thorough investigation of conditions in the Force to-day in order that thereby some method of checking what has become an all too common evil might be undertaken. The reputation of the whole Force is at stake and it will be, therefore, to the interests of the Department if those responsible for the administration of the Police Force co-operate wholeheartedly in such an investigation, which, if it is to have any palpable effect, should be carried out by a special commission whose findings should be made public.

THE ADMINISTRATIVE side of the Police Force has, of course, many difficulties in the matter of controlling their constables as far as receiving and demanding illegal gratifications are concerned. The present congested state of the Colony, crowded as it is with refugees and poor people, a great many of whom are trying to eke out an existence as hawkers, offers many chances of victimization for constables on duty and it is almost impossible for the responsible officers of the Force to keep a vigilant check on the movements of their men. As a matter of fact, the evil is not one that is peculiar to Hongkong alone. Graft among members of the Police Force exists on even a much larger scale in other countries. But a British Police Force in a British Colony has a certain prestige to maintain and, while it may be impossible to completely eliminate such "squeeze," at least something can be done to mitigate its blatant practice in the streets of the Colony. As Mr. R. A. D. Forrest said in his remarks from the bench last week, common as the practice appears to be, there is always insufficient evidence to bring the case before the Courts. That seems to be the crux of the situation, but the victims of this form of graft could help the Police Department towards checking this evil if they would refuse to comply with such demands made by policemen and immediately bring the incident to the notice of the higher police authorities.

THERE IS, however, another aspect of this question which must be considered, as far as it relates to the Police Force. For instance, what are the qualifications demanded from prospective applicants

SIX OFF THE FIRST BALL

Spectators at a first grade cricket match in New South Wales sat up in amazement when a six was hit off the first ball of the match.

The batsman was M. Cohen (Paddington), a member of this season's New South Wales Colts' team, and the bowler was L. O'Brien (Marrickville), a Sheffield Shield player.

O'Brien dropped the ball short, and Cohen, setting a fine example to opening batsmen, pulled it hard and true, over the square-leg fence.

for appointment to the Force? Are these sufficient to ensure that their moral character, honesty and integrity are beyond reproach and in keeping with the standard necessary to prevent their yielding to the temptation of making use of their position, to extort gratifications from the public? These are questions which should come within the purview of such a commission as has been suggested and on which they would be able to make recommendations in order to keep the standard of the force as high as possible.

Instead of allowing the situation to worsen by making it all too easy for undesirable and questionable characters to find employment in it and by means of this graft, make quite a profitable living out of their unfortunate victims.

POPE'S WARM LOVE FOR MANKIND

Peace Is Foremost Among His Concerns

The new Pope's heart is as big as the whole world and warm with love for every man, declared Cardinal Hinsley at Westminster Cathedral in his first sermon since his return from the election of Pope Pius XII. Cardinal Hinsley stressed the Pope's concern for peace, and said that his first words to the world after his election were words of blessing and then of appeal for peace.

"No earthly motives, no considerations of lower value—political, diplomatic, or racial—ever entered into the councils of the Cardinals either during the preparations for the Conclave or during the actual election," said Cardinal Hinsley.

"Our one object was the choice of a man of God, one after the heart of Christ our Saviour, tried in faith and hope and charity and prudence."

"Such a man was Cardinal Pacelli, whose very name spells peace. His previous work had been all devoted to the promotion of peace; his motto already was 'Peace, the fruit of justice.'"

Press Photographer Criticized

A Press photographer who took what Mr. Justice Oliver described as a "shameful" picture—showing a dying wife in her husband's arms after a road accident—was criticized by the Judge at Birmingham Assizes, and at the conclusion of his evidence his Lordship intimated that he was going to send the papers in the case to the Director of Public Prosecutions.

The case was one in which William Henry Sparkes, of Oxford Street, Leamington, whose wife died after an accident, claimed damages under the Law Reform Act against Mrs. Alice Eugene Torrance, of Astley, Redworth, driver of a car involved in a collision with Mrs. Sparkes while she was cycling from Coventry to Leamington last April.

Alfred Jones, a professional photographer, of Whoberley Avenue, Coventry, who gave evidence for plaintiff, said he had been taking photographs near the scene of the accident.

Giving judgment for the defendant, with costs, Mr. Justice Oliver said the case was remarkable in one respect. He had never heard either in his experience at the Bar or since he had sat on the Bench, more outrageous evidence than that given by the man Jones.

"In comparison," he said, "the performance of taking this horrible photograph becomes almost insignificant. It has no bearing upon his credibility, but it is in itself a disgraceful and a disgraceful thing. A man who gave such evidence as he gave before me, was such a man as would take that photograph and sell it for money."

MOTHER OF GUERRILLAS TELLS HER STORY

Manchurians Commence Volunteer Movement

Special to the "Hongkong Daily Press"

Mrs. Chao is a native of Manchuria. She was responsible for the volunteer movement against the Japanese rule. After the Japanese attack on Lukou-chiao on July 7, 1937, which started the present Sino-Japanese war, she engaged in guerilla activities in the suburbs of Peiping where she had organized bands of the oppressed peasants to fight for liberty. It is one of the most glorious pages in the history of the war. The old lady in spite of her age of 63, has been travelling throughout the country rousing the people to fight against the Japanese. She is known by the name of Mother Guerilla. Not long ago she arrived in Hongkong and in an interview gave the following story of her part in the volunteer movement in Manchuria.

The old lady is now touring British Malaya. In Chao Chia Pao people were in terror at night. The dead elders haunted them; they were done to death by the Japanese. There was also a boy whose mutilated body was found in a lonely spot. It was winter and the snow-covered village presented a scene of despondency. The boy was killed in a most terrible manner, his eyes were out, his stomach bore a bayonet mark of over one foot long, and his intestines protruded.

BY S. S. CHOW

The people were so haunted that they dared not leave their houses at night. Some brave ones would, however, yell out thus: "We can also use bayonets to cut their stomachs and bamboos to take out their eyes. It is hard to live nowadays in this world. Well, why not join the volunteers?" To these people I would have said that the time was fast coming when we could have our revenge.

The Japanese were carrying out their work of grouping the villages. Seventeen villages were being combined into only seven, the surplus to be razed to the ground by fire. The people were powerless to oppose the Japanese order. They had to concentrate and share quarters with their relatives. My small home had to take care of over thirty persons. It was a mighty tragedy, indeed, for people to give up their homes and land left by their ancestors.

One day when it was snowing hard I was by the fire, together with my children and refugee relatives. Two boys from the East village rushed in and said that some troops had appeared on the hills to the east. According to these two boys, the troops were not like Japanese. My relatives felt uneasy over the report. Yet I was wondering whether it was not my son's return for the New Year. I told them to keep quiet.

MEETING WITH CLANSMEN
I immediately left to find out the truth. Going in the eastern direction with a basket full of cakes, I was thinking of a plan to evade the Japanese. I decided that if ever I met the Japanese I would pretend that I was sending the cakes as New Year presents to the kiddies of the Wong family. Somewhere near the central part of the village I saw two blue-coated men carrying rifles on their shoulders. They were going from west to east and I thought they must belong to our side. Just then they came close to me. I recognized them as Chao Wu and Feng Lu, both of them aged a little over 20. The former was a clansman of mine and the latter, the first from Nan Tsun to join the volunteers.

I called out to them. They came and told me that the columns were following on their heels. I asked them to stay in my house, which they accepted, and I handed them the basket of cakes. Continuing my journey to the east village I came across the advance guards at the house of Wong Siao San Tsze, followed by a long queue of men. The dog barked while the pigs scrambled about at the sight of the volunteer band. I felt very unnatural over the sight myself. These men had been away fighting for the country for over a year and I was so overcome with joy at their safe return that I nearly wept.

A large number of people came out to see the marching columns. But there was a distinct feeling of fear lest they might be involved; the Japanese would not make any difference. The columns marched into the village in two headed by Wong Ta Ko Tsze carrying a red flag. Seeing me at the entrance to Lee's house, Wong said to me: "Such a treacherous day and you are here!"

He continued: "How many pigs have you slaughtered for us?" "It falls on us to enjoy the intestines to-day" said another.

LIVELY SCENE
As we talked during our march we nodded to our neighbours. The people began to gather, despite the snow. In a moment there was a lively scene in the village. The columns together with their horses were housed in the various buildings. The men disarmed themselves and began to brush away the dirt on their clothes and shoes. My son said the columns had to depart at night and urged that I should have their meals ready before it was too late.

On the night of Feb. 7, 1922, Chao Tung came home with a colleague of his. He said that the main column was staying at Wong Chia Pao to the south and suggested that if nothing unusual took place, some of the men desired to come and stay for the night. I was nearly dumb-founded upon hearing this and told my son that disquiet prevailed here and that not long ago the Japanese came to the house and subjected us to questioning. As soon as the meal was over I urged them to quit.

HOUSE SURROUNDED
No sooner after their departure, my eldest daughter, Lee Jen, hurried home in a state of excitement. She said that she saw some fire in the western hills and thought that it must have come from the Japanese.

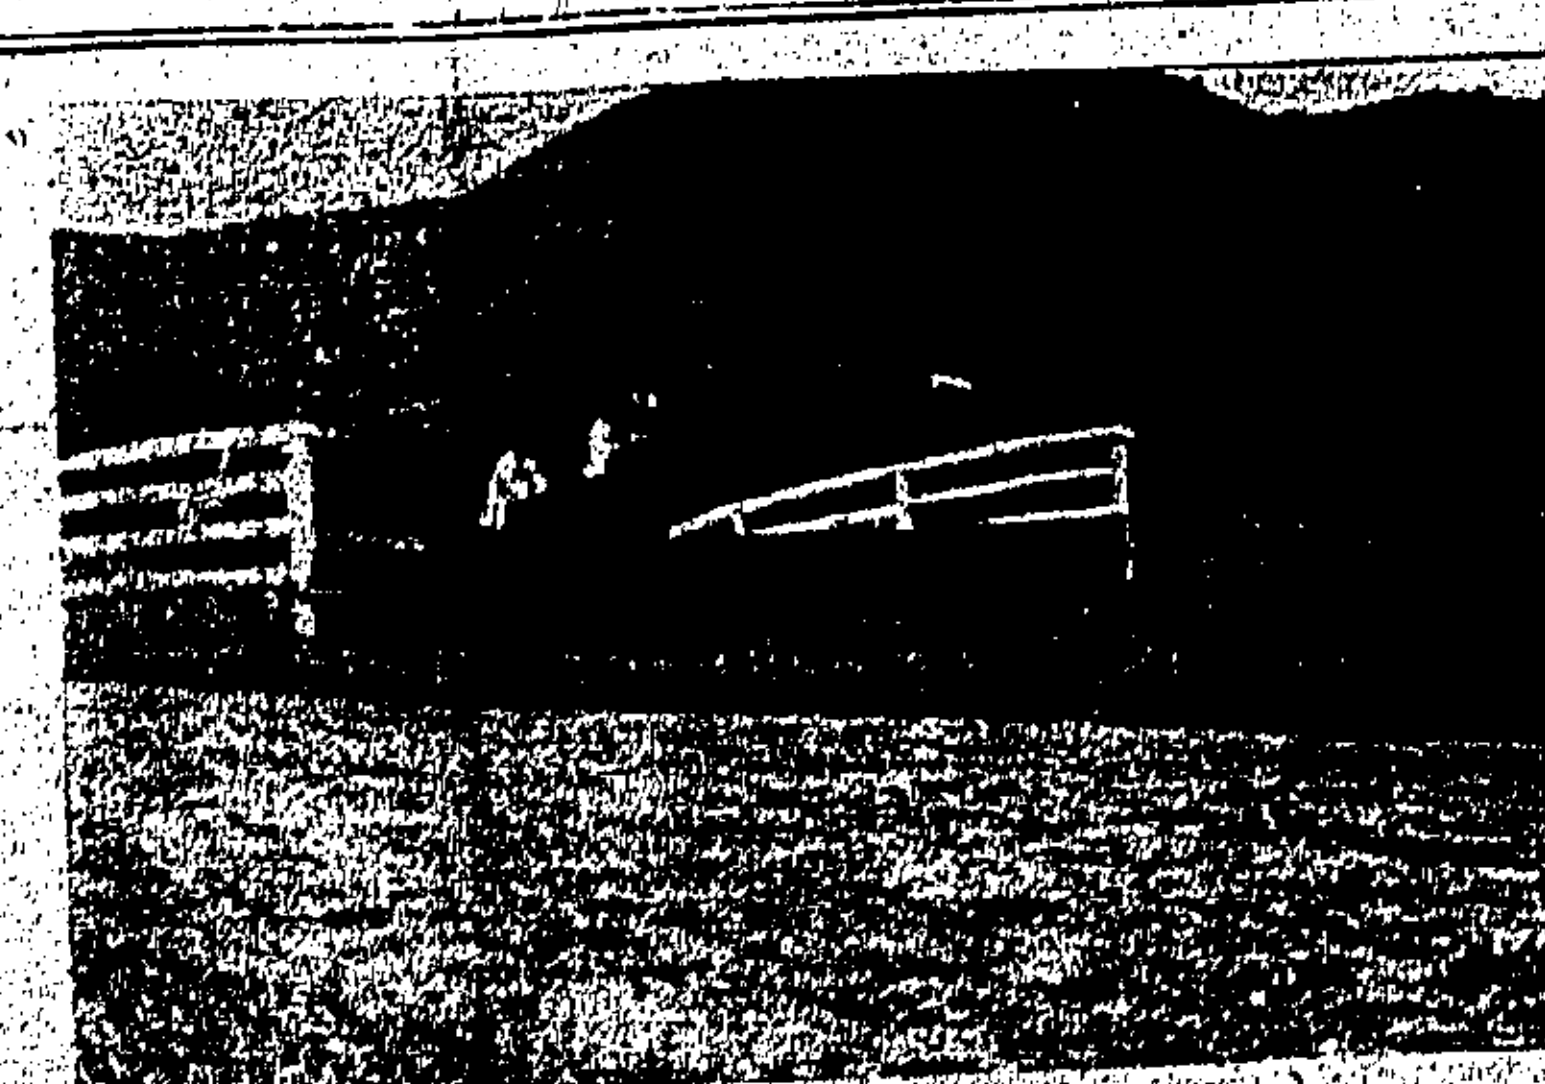

At once I climbed up to the roof to find out the truth. I was convinced that the fire was from the Japanese. But almost immediately I noticed that our house was surrounded by Japanese soldiers. As soon as I came down I warned my own folks to go over to the side rooms where my refugee relatives were quartered. They were also warned to say nothing to the Japanese.

Just at this moment the Japanese knocked at our door. I told my servants to let them in. The party was composed of more than a dozen men and as soon as they came in they posted themselves at all doors. They demanded for "hutze" (bandits). An interpreter following them asked me where was the "hutze".

I told him there was no "hutze" in our house. However, the Japanese herded us, thirty persons, both young and old, together and lined us up against a wall. They pointed their bayonets at us as if for a charge. We were questioned, but answered unanimously that there was no "hutze" in our house.

BURNED FURIOUSLY
In a few minutes it was burning furiously and we were placed so near the fire that we were actually being baked. I asked the interpreter: "Since you have burnt our house, what good is there for you to get us baked?" He replied laconically: "Your house having been burnt down, what good is there for you to live in this world." I said to myself: "Let's push on our volunteer movement, our houses having been burnt."

The Japanese then left us. Our neighbours came to help in extinguishing the fire. They saved quite a lot of things for (Continued on Page 9)

NEW NAVAL MOTOR - BOAT

British motor-boat production for naval purposes has at present a great advantage over all foreign competitors and a considerable proportion of the contracts for overseas Governments now being carried out in our yards is for craft of this type.

The Government of the Philippines is building up a defence force in preparation for future developments and is assembling a coastal defence flotilla.

One of the boats ordered from Thornycroft's for this service was put through trials at the mouth of the Thames recently.

She is 65 feet in length and has a stepped hull—which means that she skims the surface and does not drive through the water, and is fitted with two torpedo tubes. She is designed to do 39 knots but on trial in fairly rough water she did 41.1 knots, which is a really good speed with engines that develop 1,800 h.p.

A crew of six can handle the boat, which will stand up to much rougher weather than would our own earlier coastal motor-boats, and the living quarters give reasonable comfort for the crew on the fairly prolonged cruises which craft of this type are expected to undertake nowadays.

SCREAMING ALIENS IN AIR LINER

Pilot's Refusal To Take Off

There were extraordinary scenes at Croydon Aerodrome when an attempt was made to send back 12 aliens who had arrived at the airport recently in a Danish air liner from Warsaw.

After they had been half carried by several policemen and aerodrome porters to the aeroplane they threatened to throw themselves out as soon as the machine was in the air.

Finally the pilot, declaring that he was afraid of what the passengers might do in their distraught state, refused to take off.

A member of the aerodrome staff said that the 12 aliens, who included one woman, were mostly Jewish refugees from Czechoslovakia.

Five of the 12 refugees who struggled with the police at Croydon Airport in an effort to avoid being sent out of the country, are now at Croydon Police Station; the other seven are at Wallington Police Station.

Those at Croydon refused food placed before them until the police had sent out for kosher food. A doctor attended three of the refugees, who were in a very distressed state.

The police have arranged for food to be supplied for them as it is expected that they may be allowed to remain for at least a few days.

The refugees speak highly of the way the police are treating them. One of them said he would be content to spend the remainder of his days in a Croydon police cell rather than return to Czechoslovakia, and would be willing to pay for his board and lodging.

INTELLIGENCE IN BRITAIN

Declining More
Rapidly
Than Ever Before

Intelligence of the population of Britain is to-day declining more rapidly than ever before. Such was the finding of a test carried out by the Burden Mental Research Trust, of Bristol, which revealed that the brightest children in the country come from the smallest families.

Some 3,400 children, representing a complete cross-section of the population of Bath, Somerset, were chosen for the investigation. All the children were born between September, 1921, and August 1925.

"There was found to be a marked association between the intelligence of the child and the number of brothers and sisters it possessed," Dr. J. A. Fraser Roberts, principal investigator of the Trust, told a meeting of the Eugenics Society in London. "For example," said Dr. Roberts, "the brightest children had about 1.6 brothers and sisters of the average, while the dullest had about 3.9."

FINDING IS USUAL

"Of course very clever children may come from large families, and very dull children from small families, but the opposite finding is more usual. For example, 25 per cent. of the brightest children were only children, but only 7 per cent. of the dullest were only children. Thirty-three per cent. of the dullest children had six or more brothers and sisters, while only 4 per cent. of the brightest had as many as this."

The tendency for the more intelligent persons in the population to have fewer children was, if anything, more marked in this group than in most of the groups previously studied.

"One highly significant finding is that the small number of brothers and sisters of the brightest children is quite independent of social class," Dr. Roberts added.

"The very bright children whose fathers belong to the lowest occupational groups come from families just as small, or, possibly, even a little smaller, than do very bright children whose fathers belong to the highest occupational classes."

"The present trend is lamentable from the national point of view and there is the added danger in the near future that ill-conceived remedies to meet the menace of a declining population will make the position worse."

end of the month. The present arrangement of arrivals and departures will continue as in the past until further notice.

England's Man Of Mystery

DEPUTY BOSS OF NATION

Sir Horace Wilson

Introducing Sir Horace J. Wilson, England's man of mystery and the nearest approach in English post-war politics to the famed Colonel House of the Woodrow Wilson era.

He is not in the Cabinet. He is not a junior minister. He is not even a member of Parliament. He is just a civil servant bearing the somewhat prosaic title of Chief Industrial Advisor to the Government.

In reality, however, he wields tremendous power and influence. Standing always at the elbow of Mr. Neville Chamberlain, the most powerful boss English politics has seen for a quarter of a century, he is in effect deputy "boss" of England.

His advice extends far beyond industry. It embraces foreign affairs. It takes in its stride military strategy. It covers imperial defence, armaments, general European politics, and world affairs.

"OFFICE BOY"
His enemies call him the "office boy" but others do not like the appellation. They insist it is not a true description. For Mr. Chamberlain is Wilson's devoted adherent. He listens to his opinions, agrees with his decisions, uses him to carry out his plans.

The world at large has become aware of Sir Horace during the important conversations that preceded the Munich agreement. He went everywhere with Mr. Chamberlain, accompanied him on his famous aerial jaunts to Germany, and even became a special messenger for the Prime Minister when it became necessary to convey urgent letters to Hitler. Yet Sir Horace has long been reckoned as one of the most powerful men behind the scenes in England.

UNOBTRUSIVE
Earl Baldwin liked him, and frequently consulted him on many matters other than industrial affairs. When Chamberlain succeeded him, Baldwin recommended Wilson as a man worth leaning on.

Sir Horace draws a salary of $15,000 a year. Pale complexioned with mild blue eyes, he is clean-shaven and dark haired. He walks with a stoop, dresses unobtrusively, and altogether is the perfect illustration of the better paid English civil servant. Usually he looks his full fifty-six years.

Married, with one son and two daughters, he made his mark at the Ministry of Labour, where he was Principal Assistant Secretary from 1921 until 1930, when he was created Chief Industrial Advisor to the Government.

REMOTE COTTAGE
He spends most of his time in London, and when not in Whitehall lives in quiet De Vere Gardens, in the Kensington district of the capital.

Occasionally, at week-ends, he drives down to a remote cottage he owns in the Chalfey district of Sussex County. The cottage is furnished like an office, with files, desks, and telephones. As soon as he arrives there, Sir Horace begins his week-end of relaxation by sitting down and starting work again.

When he finds time, he likes to travel. It is only natural that his one club should be the Travellers, and his sole hobby work.

FORMER CAPTAIN TO MANAGE FAMOUS LEAGUE CLUB

Sunderland F. C. directors have appointed William Murray, their former captain, and present captain of St. Mirren, the Scottish League club, to the management of the Sunderland club. He succeeds Mr. John Cochrane, recently resigned.

There were more than 190 applicants, but Murray was the unanimous choice of the board.

M. HENRI COSME WELCOMED

SHANGHAI, Apr. 9. (Reuter).—M. Henri Cosme, the new French Ambassador to China, was welcomed this morning by a large delegation of French officials, diplomatic representatives of various nationalities, and a large military and naval guard of honour. He has just returned from presenting his credentials at Chungking.

SECRET OF POWERFUL GERMAN BOMB SOLVED

U. S. Military circles have heard that Army ordnance experts have solved the secret of a German-made aerial bomb which caused frightful destruction in the Spanish civil war air raids on Barcelona.

The Army and Navy Journal reported it has been learned that the bomb contains no liquid oxygen as first believed, but is charged with ammonium nitrate mixed with powdered charcoal and powdered aluminum enclosed in a light magnesium alloy shell.

Officials declined comment, but one authority said confidently there is definite reason to believe Army and commercial experts in the United States are fully abreast of foreign developments.

First official word that Germany had a mysterious new bomb came when the Senate Military Affairs Committee was told of it in January by Maj.-Gen. Henry H. Arnold said that a preliminary investigation indicated the German bomb, which caused scores of deaths in Barcelona, contained compressed or liquid air.

Gen. Arnold said the U. S. War Department has received reports that the missile "was so powerful that it killed every human being within the range of a quarter of a mile and knocked people unconscious for a distance of a half mile."

The Army and Navy Journal, semi-official military service periodical, says subsequent investigation has established the actual composition of the bomb and led to official conclusions that it was over-rated as a weapon.

The bomb is said to have no penetrating power and, consequently, to be ineffective against either well constructed air-raid shelters or soldiers in trenches.

Japan Has "Spy Mania"

BRITISH NOTE

Alleged Ill-Treatment in Singapore

The British Government speak of "spy mania" in Japan in a Note handed to the Japanese Ambassador in London on Mar. 21. The Note is a reply to allegations of ill-treatment of Japanese subjects in Singapore.

On January 18 the Japanese Ambassador complained about the treatment of his nationals and spoke of a series of raids by the police on Japanese establishments in Singapore.

The British Government reply that the raids were carried out in accordance with the law and that the results showed that certain Japanese nationals intended to engage in activities prejudicial to the security of the Colony and calculated to cause a breach of the peace.

The Note invites comparison between the measures of protection taken since the construction of the Singapore base and the measures taken by the Japanese Government for the protection of fortified zones. The situation in Singapore compares favourably with the situation in Japan, says the Note, which refers to Japanese police surveillance and "quotes examples of 'spy mania'."

FACING "LAW OF THE JUNGLE"

Mr. Eden's Appeal For Unity

Mr. Eden, addressing American newspaper correspondents, by whom he was entertained at a Savoy Hotel luncheon on Mar. 23 urged that it was the duty of the peace-loving nations of Europe to unite immediately in their defence against further aggression. He said this was a time of ever-increasing gravity, and nothing could be gained by belittling the menace confronting Europe.

A great part of Europe now saw no law prevail but the law of the jungle, where the prey fell to the swiftest and most ruthless stroke. What was the duty of the peace-loving nations of this threatened continent? He believed that there could be only one answer—to unite immediately, to organize defence against further aggression.

ESSENTIAL STANDARDS

If this policy was to succeed it must be based on the principle of preserving what remained of the rule of law in Europe, and maintaining those essential standards of international conduct upon which all progress depended in order to protect those liberties in Europe which yet survived. If this country was embarking on that course, there were two essential conditions—we should be wholehearted in our endeavour and we should act with speed, for, as conditions were to-day, every hour counted.

Re-emphasizing his appeal of last autumn for a truce in party politics, Mr. Eden commented: "It seems to me more than ever necessary to-day that this nation should demonstrate to the world our national unity in purpose and action."

MALARIA RESEARCH UNIT FOR EAST

A new phase in the systematic attack on malaria is marked by the departure of three members of the Medical Research Unit of Southern Rhodesia to study malaria research in India, Ceylon and Malaya.

The unit, which is financed mainly by a grant of £5,000 per annum for three years from the State Lottery Trustees, consists of Dr. G. R. Ross, head of the Public Health Laboratory, Salisbury; Dr. D. M. Blair, of the Medical Department, who will do field work; Mr. J. H. R. Savory, seconded for three years from the Irrigation Department, who will convert the findings of the unit into engineering terms, and Mr. W. D. Alves, of the Public Health Laboratory.

The first three have left for the East. Mr. Alves is making an intensive study of the classification of mosquitoes at the South African Medical Research Bureau, Johannesburg.

ROYAL NAVY

A large increase in the department of the Director of Electrical Engineering at the Admiralty is provided for in the new Navy Estimates chiefly by transfers from other departments. The total of the staff will be 264, compared with 159 last year and 149 in 1937, and will include 62 posts previously provided for under the Department of Torpedoes and Mining. In 1919 the staff of the department numbered 70.

Captain E. T. Wickham, O.B.E., retired who has been Assistant Director (Electrical) in the Torpedoes and Mining Department since 1929, is transferred to the Electrical Engineering Department as an Assistant Director.

LAUNCHES NEXT MONTH
The destroyer Kashmir was launched at the Woolston shipyard of J. L. Thornycroft and Co., Limited, on April 4. A sister ship, the Kimberley, is building at the same yard, and with her launch in May all the destroyers of the Kelly type, of the 1937 programme, will be afloat.

On April 15 the launches will take place of the escort vessel Flamingo at the Scotstoun yard of Yarrow and Co., Limited, and the patrol vessel Shearwater, at the Cowes yard of J. S. White and Co., Limited. Both vessels were provided for in the 1937 programme.

AUSTRALIAN BOOM VESSELS
H.M.A.S. Kookaburra has been commissioned at Sydney for service in the Royal Australian Navy. She is one of three boomworking vessels laid down at Cockatoo Island Dockyard, Sydney, last year, with a displacement of 830 tons, similar to that of the Bayonet class in the Royal Navy. Each vessel will be armed with one 3in. anti-aircraft gun.

GUNNERY SCHOOL STAFF
Commander A. P. Campbell, promoted in the New Year list after two years as gunnery officer of the Nelson, has been appointed to the staff of the Excellent, gunnery school, in succession to Commander M. W. St. B. Seale.

ENGINEER COMMANDER MANN
Engineer Commander John Mann who has been serving at Chatham Naval Barracks since 1933 as assistant drafting officer (and for general duties), has been placed on the retired list on attaining the age limit of 65.

CONTRACTS FOR NEW WARSHIP
The Admiralty announce that, subject to the settlement of certain points, they have decided to place orders as shown for the following vessels of the 1939 programme:—

Britain Retains 5 Ships

IF NAZIS SCRAP NAVAL PACT

If Hitler denounces the Anglo-German Naval Treaty, Britain will be released from the obligation to scrap five 30,000-ton, fifteen-inch-gun battleships of the Royal Sovereign class.

Germany has already been notified that the Admiralty intend to scrap two of these battleships.

This has been done in accordance with the little-realized arrangement in the Anglo-German Naval Treaty by which Britain agreed that the German naval building programme would provide for gradual additions to the Fleet up to 1942.

The British replacement programme (which could not begin until 1937 under the Washington Treaty) is also to be spread over several years, the last of the new battleships not coming into service until 1943.

BUILT DURING WAR
In return for the promise to scrap the five ships of the Royal Sovereign class, Germany agreed not build two new warships.

The Royal Sovereign class are the Royal Oak, Resolution, Ramilies, and Revenge. All were built during the war. Each one has been refitted in the last ten years, the total cost being more than £10,000,000.

They carry eight 15-inch guns, twelve 6-inch guns, eight 4-inch anti-aircraft guns, four torpedo tubes, and more than twenty light guns and multiple machine guns. Their speed is 23 knots.

All are superior to any existing German battleship, in gun-power and armour.

The Royal Sovereigns would not be needed in line of battle in the event of war. They would be the guardians of Britain's food convoys.

"No raiding cruiser," Mr. Winston Churchill has said, "would dare come within range of their 15-inch guns."

HIGHWAY

CHUNGKING, Apr. 10 (Central)—A Central News correspondent who travelled from Shensi to Szechwan found the 700-kilometre Kweichow-Chengtu highway, the overland link linking the North-western and Southwestern provinces, excellently paved and bridged. He covered the distance by motor car in five days.

Construction of the road was started in 1937 and completed in two years. The bridges along the road are strong enough to support heavy trucks with a load capacity of seven or more tons.

The Philippine Mining Industry is headed for another record-breaking year, according to Mr. J. H. Marsman, head of the extensive Marsman mining interests, who "arrived in Hongkong in the President Coolidge yesterday, en route to San Francisco.

"Gold production in the Philippine will be well over 70,000,000 pesos this year," the mining executive stated, "while dividends paid to shareholders in Philippine mining enterprises will be considerably above the amount paid last year. A number of new operations have gone into production during the first quarter of 1939, while many of the older mining properties have added substantially to their output."

Mr. Marsman, who is accompanied by his family, is en route to the United States on business. He will spend some time in California in connexion with his various projects, after which he will proceed across the continent to New York and Europe.

Travelling with Mr. Marsman are Mr. Robert De Vos, retired

The market opened 3/8 of a cent lower for all deliveries as compared with Tuesday's closing rates.

Quiet and dull conditions prevailed throughout the day thus responding to advices received from London and New York. The easiness on the London and New York stock-markets coupled with a renewal of European political uncertainties was a depressing factor and caused dealers and speculators to adopt a hesitant attitude. Also the belief, that the peak of American consumption has passed and that the outlook now is less promising, exercised a restraining influence on the market.

Closing tone was quiet

Market steady but idle

NEW YORK COTTON

The market once more opened very quiet, with price fluctuations extremely narrow. Later, trading was fairly active and values advanced on an improvement in Wall Street. There was some fresh buying and offers were scarce, which further aided the market. There is still no definite news from Washington regarding the Administration's crop programme. At the close, the undertone was firm, with prices reaching the highs for the session.

NEW YORK RUBBER

Early in the day, prices staged a fairly substantial advance on a quiet market. This was in sympathy with the better tone on Wall Street. The steadiness of the London market was also a helpful factor. Prices continued to advance until the closing.

CHICAGO WHEAT

Prices declined on liquidation and lack of interest. Reports of beneficial rains and a lessening of the European tension were adverse factors.

I should perhaps particularly refer now to one of the assets of the P. and O. Bank which we have taken over, and which will hereafter appear in our own future balance-sheets as a separate item. The P. and O. Bank acquired, in 1921, 23,403 (93½ per cent.) of the ordinary shares in the Allahabad Bank, Ltd., and these are now being transferred into the name of the Chartered Bank.

RACE MEETING RESULTS

The pace up to this stage had only been fair, but Fel Ying was now moving very fast, and, with Mr. Woo giving his mount the whip, this time was also "flying." Together they went into the lead, with this time lessening the gap. Fel Ying had something in hand and stayed ahead by half a length.

POKFULAM STAKES
A coincidence brought the Easter meeting to a close. On Saturday the last event had seen a dead heat for second place; here Sea Horse (Mr. B. A. Proulx) and Sports Venture (Mr. Encarnacao) dead-heated for third place.

There was nothing very much else in it; Millesay always looked good, and it came as no surprise when it won by two lengths. Tiny Tim (Mr. F. F. Li) also running strongly, was two lengths in front of the third ponies.
